Sarah ATCHO (SUI)

200m Women - 3rd

I felt good in this race, but I'm not very happy with my time. Yesterday was very hot and today it's a bit more chilly, the weather contrast affected me and it had an impact on my race. I will run in Chaux-de-Fond next and my main goal is reaching the World Championships.

30.06.2023 19:15

Tasa JIYA (NED)

200m Women - 1st

This was the first time that I run 200m after several shorter races. I'm very satisfied with the results.

Tonight, even if it was much harder than I expected, I run according to the training plan that I prepared with my coach.

My next race is on Sunday in Stockholm where I will run again 200m.

I enjoyed so much visiting Lausanne. I'm disappointed that I didn't have the time to visit the city but I look forward to coming again next year!

100m Men B Race - 1st

I felt okay in this race, the start was good but I've been training with a new technique recently and I'm still uncomfortable with it which made me lose speed by the end of the race. This race was more of a training for me, but my next one in Finland is important because it will contribute in me getting my points to go to the World Championships.

I'm not very happy about my time, I was expecting more, but I'm very happy to be here in Lausanne, the atmosphere was great. My goal now is to get to the World Championships in Budapest.

Keely HODGKINSON (GBR)

800m Women - 2nd Place

I wasn't very happy about this race, I was in great shape, but I guess today was not my day. Mary was better. My plans for the season will not change. I really liked being here, running in a full stadium with a great crowd.

It was a very challenging race and I felt completely empty at the end of it. The weather was particularly difficult for me. My mentor would have been extremely proud of my achievements tonight.

Beautiful race, however disappointed as no one attempted hit. I just came back from the Ostrava Golden Spike in Czech Republic, so I was expecting better from this race to be honest with you. The atmosphere was great!

Jason JOSEPH (SUI)

110m Hurdles Men - 2nd Place

I am very disappointed with my race. The conditions were great, the track in Lausanne is fast, there was little to no wind and I was feeling in great shape; yet I did not perform as wanted. My head was all over the place and I kept hitting hurdles. My next race is the Swiss National championships, and my goal is to run under 13 seconds at the World Championships in Budapest.

Shot Put Men - 2nd

I feel quite frustrated tonight as I didn't get the job done. I didn't nail it as I was hoping I would.

What I love about coming to Athletissima in Lausanne is that the tracks are so close to the public and you get carried away by their applause. It's a good crowd and they also involve lots of children. There's a feeling of closeness to the public that is great. This is my 7th or 8th time in Lausanne and I hope to keep coming back.

To be a honest, I am a tad disappointed. I felt great and the potential for a really big throw was there and that's why I am not entirely happy. Nevertheless a win is a win.

I have had a quite good season so far and I am very positive about what can be achieved this year.

I was very frustrated after injuring myself as I had to postpone all my competitions. I know that I'm coming back from an injury but still, I have mix feelings about my performance tonight. On one hand I'm really happy to be back on the track with the public and to be able to run instead of watching the race from television. On the other hand, I was still expecting to be doing better. I felt good during the race except the last 40 meters where I struggled. I will now focus on recover in full and to get back to the results that I expect.

I am always setting my own goals along with my coach, I dont work on outside pressures.

We hurdlers compete against each other all the time, it's almost a dress rehearsal for majors like worlds or the games. We thrive in the midst of such competition. I will keep doing my best and accept wherever I finish at the end of the season.

The race today was good, but I just hit a hurdle at the end, but I'm happy with my ranking in the Diamond league and being able to perform here in Lausanne is an enjoyable experience. In this season there were ups and downs, but I'm still able to perform and that's good.

It felt great tonight. You have to trust the process and then everything will fall into place just as it's supposed to be. This was my second time here in Lausanne, there is really a special feel. The crowd is unbelievable. Last year I was 3rd, so I performed much better this year. I'm now aiming for the 1st place next year at Athletissima.

It felt great but I also know on what I need to work on. I've been racing a lot lately, so I have not been able to work on what I want to work on. For now, I just want to have fun, enjoy the races, stay focused, calm and do the best that I can as I trust that everything will be taking care of itself. I like Lausanne very much and the stadium's atmosphere is spectacular, being so close to the public gives you an incredible energy.

I love to compete. As much as one could train but there is nothing like the adrenalin of an actual competition.

A WL performance a week ahead of the US trials is amazing. Although I do not have usual pressure that we feel ahead of the US trials as I am already qualified but it's the US trials and it is always competitive.

The focus is on Budapest, generally I am completely exhasued after a major event but I feel good this year and I will try to keep going and compete at DLs after Budapest.
